

Cordogan Clark & Associates Case Study

About Us

Ghent manufactures high-quality whiteboards, glassboards, and display products designed to enhance communication in schools, offices, and beyond. Proudly made in the USA, our solutions combine innovation and durability.

The Project

Cordogan Clark & Associates regularly delivers architectural and interior design solutions across educational, municipal, and commercial clients in the region. For their own office at 960 Ridgeway Avenue, Aurora, the team wanted a sleek, modern way to facilitate collaboration within conference settings.

Facility Information

Location: Aurora, IL 60506

Size: 287 boards needed for patient rooms

The Products

- Aria Connects in these specifications:
  - 4' × 6' Aria Connect 1x
  - 4' × 8' Aria Connect 2x
  - 4' × 24' Aria Span Connect 1x

communicate . collaborate . learn .

Challenge

Cordogan Clark & Associates needed a better way to facilitate collaboration during inter-office meetings. Their conference rooms lacked a centralized solution for capturing and sharing notes, sketches, and concepts in real time between teams across locations.

Results

With the new boards in place, the team can now easily document discussions and sketches, ensuring everyone stays on the same page—no matter where they're working from. The boards helped streamline collaboration, enhance idea-sharing, and add a polished, professional look to their conference spaces.

Solution

They installed Aria Connect and Aria Span Connect boards in their conference rooms. These clean, modern glassboards offered a practical and elegant way to visualize and retain ideas while improving communication between remote teams.
